Subscribe Past Issues Translate ▼ RSS №

The Frontline

Alongtalk.com
Volume 14 (October)

Education "It Takes a Village..."

The history of education and the Black community has several layers. In the beginning there was an intentional effort to prevent Black people from having access to learning. There was a time when a Black person would be killed for merely wanting to learn how to read. Over time the lack of access to education has transformed into providing lesser facilities, materials, and resources to Black children. The scars of these actions are still visible in many ways today. Progress has been made, but it's important to make sure all Americans are informed about the blood, sweat, tears, and sacrifice necessary to make sure every child has access to a first class education.

A Letter to My Teacher

You are not me, love me, like me, teach me, see me, inspire me Know that I am great, spawned from greatness Drenched in the struggle Armed with power and insight I am me

Being me,
I see your fear, yet do not understand
I see your gift, yet you do not plan
I see your intention, yet you do not fight
You must act and respond
You must initiate what is right

Use your voice
Use your gift
Be that flashlight in the dark
Be that gorilla in the mist
Stand apart
Stand upfront

The power of your tongue and tone can take me back Back to when 1/5th was the norm Subscribe Past Issues

Back to...now

Dack to which our lives did not matter

Translate ▼

I know better You must do better

Give me the ladder Give me the tools Share the rules

Fight

Fight for me

You are not me Love me, teach me, inspire me Otherwise If you are not with me, you are against me Eradicate yourself And leave me the fuck alone!

Tracee Frazier ~A Long Talk

A Long Talk will be visited the BYU campus during homecoming week (10/7/21 - 10/11/21) and partnered with the athletic department to continue our mission to put an anti-racist at every dinner table in America.

Click the image to learn more.

Dr. Christopher Emdin, Associate Professor in the Department of Mathematics, Science and Technology at Columbia University

This Harvard educated author, professor, and visionary is a leader in urban education. He is the author of the award winning book, Urban Science Education for the Hip Hop Generation and the New York Times bestseller For White Folks Who Teach in the Hood and the Rest of Y'all Too. Click HERE to visit his website to learn more about Dr. Emdin.

Click the image to see his TED Talk on creating magic in the classroom.

Subscribe Past Issues Translate ▼ RSS S

"Read it Again", "2 For 2" - Take 2 minutes on Opus, save yourself 2 hours of prep.

Over 50 grammar and literary concepts.

Over 500 vocabulary words for 5th-12th graders.

Over 1,000 songs.

Click the image to learn about how theopus.app can be used as an instructional tool for teachers.

Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU's)

HBCU's have maintained their relevance in the Black community over the past 150+ years,

Click the image to see a preview of the PBS HBCU documentary.

Could Charter Schools be the future of urban education?

Charter schools have changed the landscape of public education. Regardless of your perspective on public and private schools, the charter school movement has made an imprint on how we educate our kids, especially in poor communities who historically have lower standardized test scores.

Click the image to view this video on the impact of charter schools.

Community Call to Action

We need our "A Long Talk" community volunteers to help with grant writing, funding procurement, and small project management. The time requirement will be no more than 2-4 hours per week.

If you are willing to use your talents and skills to assist in this area, please email kyle@alongtalk.com and we will follow up with you to see how we can work together.

Culture Corner

Dr. Steve Perry

Dr. Perry is an educator, best selling author, and founder and Head of Schools of Capital Preparatory Schools in Harlem, NY, The Bronx, NY, and Bridgeport, CT.

Click the image to learn more.

Myrtilla Miner

This abolitionist and educator was a leader in teacher training for free African American women. She opened the Normal School for Colored Girls which is now The University of the District of Columbia.

Click the image to learn her story.

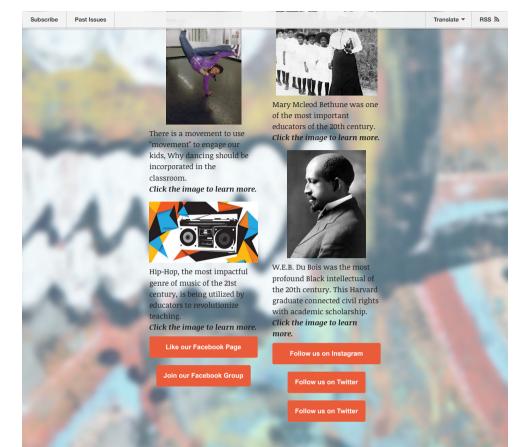

Patrick Francis Healy

Reverend Healy was the first Black president at a Predominantly White Institution, Georgetown University in Washington DC. He was born enslaved and "passed" his way to lead GU in 1874.

Click the image to learn his incredible story.

view this email in your browser

Copyright @2020 Decide2Inspire, LLC, All rights reserved.

Social Media:

Twitter, IG, Facebook @ALongTalk2020

Mailing Address:

712 H St NE Unit #921

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.